

Our nation, state and community have been deeply affected by recent events including the pandemic, layoffs, and racial tension. While some circumstances are beyond our control, others provide an opportunity to decide how we respond. Educators teach students in a variety of ways; including by example. Haysville USD 261 recognizes value in various points of view in Board policy and in practice. We seek to know better in order to do better. We want to understand before being understood. We will lead by example to help students know better, do better, and understand more. We believe that black lives matter and we are committed to contributing to the end of social injustice for all.
