Literacy First

The National Reading Panel states, "Fluent readers are characterized by the ability to read orally with speed, accuracy and proper expression."

When teachers listen to their students read daily, they are focusing on 4 major components of fluency: Pace, Phrasing, Expression, Volume, and Smoothness. Teachers model and explicitly teach these guidelines so your child knows what is expected of them.

Pace is keeping a consistently conversational and appropriate rate of which they read. It is not slow and laborious or inappropriately fast. Phrasing is being aware of sentence units and applying appropriate stress and intonation, pausing at commas and other end marks. It is not reading monotonous and word-for-word.

Expression/Volume is reading with enthusiasm while sounding natural. It is not robot reading using little expression. Smoothness is reading with minimal breaks. It is not sounding out words and frequently pausing or hesitating to read.

I have your child practice reading with appropriate fluency on some of their favorite books, poems or comics.

If you have any questions about Literacy First, please feel free to contact your child's teacher, myself or check out the official website: www.literacyfirst.com

Student Recognition First Nine Weeks

These students were chosen by their teacher for Awesome Academics, Amazing Attitude or Beautiful Behavior in recognition of their hard work to continue our Rex P.R.I.D.E. theme this year. Each nine weeks classroom teachers will make these nominations and students will be recognized in a short assembly which parents are encouraged to attend. If your student is chosen, the teacher will contact you ahead time so you might make plans to join us for this special recognition ceremony.
